HIGH TIDE FOR LITTLE SHIP IN LEASE DISPUTE

ONE of Ramsgate's most prized possessions could face permanent damage if it remains in a state of limbo.

The Sundowner, one of the famed Little Ships that took part in the 1940 evacuation of Dunkirk, is facing serious structural problems if it is not returned to the water soon, according to those who care for it.

The hull could shrink and crack, leading to costly repairs.

The boat, which could not take part in the recent Dynamo Day 70th-anniversary event, traditionally leads the flotilla every five years.

However, a lease dispute meant it was left standing on the quayside as the other boats sailed for Normandy.

■ BY TOM BETTS

The lease of the museum, which counts the Sundowner as one of its principal artefacts, is still not resolved.

The Thanet council-funded East Kent Maritime Trust, which owns the boat, cannot reach an agreement with the Steam Museum Trust, which wants to take over the museum.

A 99-year lease was agreed last year, but that arrangement has since crumbled, leading to an apparent stalemate, and until the lease is sorted out the Sundowner will probably remain on the quay.

Councillor John Watkins, the vessel's volunteer boat officer, says a "chicken and egg situation" has developed and all parties, including Thanet council, must come to an agreement about the museum lease so the boat can be returned to the water.

Cllr Watkins said there was known to be a problem with the museum's roof, as well as issues regarding mooring fees for the Sundowner and the steam-tug Cervia that were proving difficult to resolve.

While the boat is sitting on the commercial quay, it has just one more week until its insurance runs out.

If that happens, it will have to be removed from the harbour altogether as boats are not allowed to be uninsured, whether they are in or out of the water.

Cllr Watkins says he has been told by Ramsgate harbour authorities that 14 days was the maximum it should be out of the water, but after today it will have been there for 17.

GEORGE MEDAL FOR ONE BRAVE SOLDIER

A heroic Kent soldier has been awarded the George Medal by the Queen.

Paul Jacobs, from Ramsgate, was given the medal at Buckingham Palace last week.

Rifleman Jacobs, who served in Afghanistan with the 2nd Battalion The Rifles, was blinded by a Taliban bomb yet continued to put the interests of his colleagues first. He says modestly that he did nothing out of the ordinary, but his superior officers clearly thought otherwise.

He was the first person in the Rifles to receive the George Medal and said he was "very proud".

Rifleman Jacobs, 21, will donate the medal to the battalion in recognition of the men who have fallen in the Afghanistan conflict.

He will now set about raising money for the St Dunstan's Centre in West Sussex, which provides support for visually-impaired ex-servicemen.

The centre is where Rifleman Jacobs is having treatment.

Director of new project will be paid £90K-plus

■ BY TOM BETTS

A HIGHLY-paid director has been appointed for the shared-services proposals that will affect Thanet.

The plans will see three east Kent councils combine services in a bid to save money, but the new appointment will mean a salary of between £90,000 and £100,000 a year.

Donna Reed, Thanet council's current director of customer services and business transformation, will become the project's shared-services director in July.

She was chosen for the role unanimously by the leaders and chief executives of Canterbury, Dover and Thanet councils.

A Thanet council spokesman said there had been a "rigorous and intensive interview process".

Over the next four years, the three authorities believe £3.5 million can be saved by merging IT, customer services, revenues and benefits and building control, but the director post's high wages were criticised by Thanet council's opposition leader Clive Hart.

He said: "Donna is a wonderful officer, probably Thanet council's best, and I think a lot of her, but we seem to have people building kingdoms so that they can go off and become the ruler of them."

"Leading officers seem to live in a different world to the rest of us. They seem to be on phenomenal wages. To the man on the street, it must seem so high and feels like jobs for the boys."

"There's no doubt it will be a hard job and will take a skilled person, but I feel this is too much, especially in the times we are living in."

Ms Reed has worked at Thanet council for seven years, initially as head of the customer services department and more recently as director of customer services and business transformation.

DONNA REED: Shared-services director

Previously she has had roles at the Chartered Institute Of Public Finance And Accountancy and Kent County Council.

She said: "I'm delighted to be heading up this groundbreaking project. It's an exciting challenge, bringing together the services of three councils and ensuring we deliver value for money and the best possible service."

Thanet council chief executive Richard Samuel said: "The selection process was extremely tough, as you would expect for such an important role, and all three leaders and chief executives were unanimous in their choice. We have no doubt Donna will do a superb job."

Mr Samuel reportedly earns about £100,000 a year, but the amount may have risen since the last general purposes committee when it was last discussed.

Before any service is included in the sharing project, a business case will need to be prepared and agreed that shows at least a ten per cent saving in the first two years and the level of service customers would get.

The final decision will be made by each council.

Willie chart again?

LONNIE Donegan Jnr, pictured, has re-recorded his late father's 1966 World Cup classic in a bid to top the charts.

He is releasing a version of World Cup Willie, which was made famous by Lonnie Donegan, the influential skiffle artist. The song is available from download sites.

Lonnie Donegan Jnr grew up in Margate. The song was released in 1966, the year England won the World Cup, and was named after their Union Flag-wearing mascot, a footballing lion called Willie.

Donna's heroic trim

SAINSBURY'S worker Donna Ramsey, of Margate, has had her long locks lopped off for charity.

Donna, 45, is raising money for Cancer Research UK and friends and colleagues sponsored her to have her hair cropped on Monday.

Paula Moore, of Funky Divas in Birchington, donated her time and skills to cut off Donna's 1.5ft ponytail and crop and style her hair.

So far, Donna has raised more than £260. The money was doubled by Sainsbury's through its Local Heroes scheme.

Clean Sweep success

THE latest round of Operation Clean Sweep in Cliftonville led to two lorryloads of rubbish being cleared from alleyways and about 30 children discovered playing truant.

The Thanet council-led operation included officers from the planning, housing, waste and recycling teams, plus community wardens.

They were joined by Kent Fire and Rescue, police, UK Border Agency and education welfare officers, with help from volunteers at Pipeline.

Four unsupervised children found alone in a flat were handed over to social services. And severe overcrowding was found in a flat which was housing nine people.

■ MARGATE theatre company Chalkfoot has had a final clear-out of costumes and props before it vacates its old headquarters, with a sale of contents on Saturday.

There will be knock-down prices for vintage and modern clothing, bric-a-brac, hats, shoes, musical instruments and fabric. Admission is free at the Central Studios sale, between 10am and 4pm.

Fears for high and dry Little Ship

He said: "You shouldn't be treating an old boat like this, especially not one with such a history. The sun could open up the teak hull and shrink it. This would mean it leaks when returned to the water. It wouldn't be irreparable, but it should be avoided if possible."

A small amount of work needs to be done on the boat and was due to be carried out by volunteers before Dynamo Day so it could take to the water, as in previous years.

However, they walked off the job when it became clear the relevant parties could not reach an agreement in time for the Dunkirk crossing.

Thanet council would not comment on the dispute, but Cllr Watkins says it holds the key to the negotiations and should sit down with the two parties to come to an agreement.

More seaside sassiness with return of festival

■ BY TOM BETTS

THE popular Dippers and Dunkers festival returns to Thanet this summer.

After last year's successful inaugural event, the festival will be back in Margate this August and takes place over a full week.

The fun begins on Friday, August 27, and celebrates the best of new variety, with a touch of burlesque and seaside entertainment thrown in for good measure.

The festival is run by Thanet council and takes its name from locals who would dip and dunk their sea-bathing visitors in Margate's bracing waters.

Popular 1950s illusions will return to Margate Old Town in the form of two newly restored sideshows – a Flea Circus and a Monster Show, in which people will disappear before your eyes – set to amaze crowds.

Another new addition, the Insect Museum, will also be crawling into town, with performing wasps and centipedes making their debut.

The sassy Seaside Show, featuring a host of new variety acts, returns to the Theatre Royal and the theatre will also feature a look at the history of British burlesque in A Glimpse of Stocking, with beginners' burlesque classes accompanying the show.

'International music genius and sex symbol' Earl Okin will also appear with his amazing one man show, Spend the Night with Earl Okin.

market, family circus workshops, caricature art, and much more will also take place.

Martin Wise, the council's cabinet member for environmental services, said: 'After the huge success of Dippers and Dunkers last year, we're bringing it back, but making it bigger and better.'

'Building on comments we got from visitors, we've expanded on the popular elements and brought back shows and activities that went down well last time. Dippers and Dunkers has already created a name as a superb addition to the line-up of great events in Thanet this summer. With it expanded to a week, I look forward to seeing it bring even more people into Margate.'

Visit www.dippersanddunkers.org.uk or call 01843 577577 for a full list of events.

She also won a hamper from Morrisons, two sessions of bingo from Mecca and a meal for two from G Casino.

Thanet's Gateway Plus is a partnership between Thanet council and Kent County Council and offers a range of services.

Kathryn, 44, from Margate, said: 'I go in mostly to use the library, but also for council services and I've also used the internet.'

Manager Stephen Meades said: 'We wanted to celebrate by ensuring we made it a day to remember for our millionth customer.'

Eleanor's surprise garden makeover

A POORLY little girl has been made happier by the surprise Ground Force-style construction of a new garden at her Ramsgate home.

When eight-year-old Eleanor Gabriel travelled to the United States with her parents for treatment, she hadn't imagined a team of volunteers would move in and transform her back garden, in the style of television's Ground Force makeover show.

When the request went out, a host of generous companies across Thanet and further afield came forward to help.

Many donated materials, equipment and tools to help make it a reality while the Dame Janet School pupil was in Florida with her mum and dad for treatment which has left her wheelchair-bound.

The garden has given her something to smile about with summer now here and she will be able to enjoy it with her family.

Although some work is still to be done, the back garden is well on the way to being made into a safe sanctuary for Eleanor to play in.

A team of volunteers got together and worked hard to get it under way.

Companies and groups that played a part include: Wickes, Jewson, B&Q, J McCarthy builders, Alsford Timber, Chandlers, Nash Farm Shop, SSP, DC Homewards, OSP Sheds, Thanet Round Table and Abstract AVR.

Family friend and group organiser Tiffany Sonnex said: 'We'd like to say a huge thank you to everyone who helped out and donated time, money and materials.'

Without them this would not have been possible and people have been so generous. It has been great to see so many people give so much.'

Eleanor has limb girdle muscular dystrophy, a progressive muscle-wasting and weakening condition, peripheral neuropathy which damages the peripheral nervous system, and left centricular non-compaction aardiomyopathy, a rare condition affecting the heart.

She also has multicystic dysplastic kidney disease and arthrogryposis multiplex congenita, which causes contractures of the limbs.

ENDANGERED: Experts fear eels could disappear from English waters if action is not taken to halt their decline

Warning that eels are on the slippery slope to extinction

A WHOPPING fine of £50,000 could be handed to anyone caught fishing for eels as the authorities launch a bid to preserve stocks.

Kent's northern coastline has the highest level of eel migration in the south of England, but numbers of the slithering fish are falling fast.

Many experts fear they could die out and disappear from English waters altogether if the decline is not halted.

The isle's waterways are a key area for the survival of the species in Kent.

To combat the problem, a ban has been placed on fishing for juvenile eels, called elvers, under Regulation 10 of the Marine and Coastal Access Act 2009.

Delicacy

It started on Wednesday, May 26, and lasts until February 14, 2011.

Elvers are particularly sought after by cooks as they are seen as a delicacy.

Prices can reach £700 per kilogram in Britain and their locations are shrouded in secrecy to try to stop people from catching and selling them.

However, anyone caught fishing for them could face the huge fine if found to be guilty of breaking the rules laid down by the Environment Agency.

Once common in British waters, the long-term future for eels is in the balance.

Sally Chadwick, fisheries technical specialist for the Environment Agency, said: "Given the critical state of our eel stocks, we have had no choice but to introduce a close season on fishing for elvers from now until February 14 next year.

■ BY TOM BETTS

"If eel population numbers don't improve we could reach a critical point of no return and face the end of this species living in our waters and possibly global extinction."

The numbers entering European rivers have crashed by up to 95 per cent in recent decades and they are at their lowest ebb since records began.

Their decline is thought to be caused by a number of factors including fishing and changes to the habitats on which adult eels depend during migration.

Eels start life as larvae at sea drifting on the mid-Atlantic ocean currents until they reach the coast and grow into elvers.

They then enter estuaries and migrate upstream to grow and mature in rivers, lakes, ponds and wetlands for between five and 50 years. They then migrate downstream to the sea to breed.

Locally, the Environment Agency has tried to boost eel populations by undertaking work to make migration through rivers and wetlands easier for them.

More than 50 fish-passes, designed to allow eels to navigate past man-made structures such as weirs and locks, have been installed and officers have also been going on patrols to stop poachers.

Eels are an important part of the diet of rare species such as otters and are listed as endangered by the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species.

NEWS IN BRIEF

World Cup is your oyster

RAMSGATE restaurant Eddie Gilbert's will serve up a free glass of Gadd's Breweries' new stout during the World Cup.

The free half pint of Black Pearl Oyster Stout Free, which has been commissioned especially by the eaterie, is being offered with servings of oysters.

The Ramsgate-based brewer's beer is described as a "smooth, rich, dark stout" with a heady 6.2 percent volume and a cask has been produced especially to be sold on draft at the restaurant during the World Cup.

Half a dozen rock oysters – served cold with shallot and Jerez vinegar, or grilled with chorizo – cost £6, and the free half of stout comes with each serving for as long as England remain in the tournament.

Owner Jonny Dunhill said: "It's rich with an almost chocolate feel of a mocha coffee bean."

"Offering our own stout, brewed by Gadd's, fits in with our philosophy of offering the finest produce sourced as locally as possible."

Eddie Gilbert's also makes a Gadd's Black Pearl ice cream, priced £4.50.

Driver fined and banned

A MOTORIST caught driving with no insurance and two defective tyres has been fined and banned from driving for six months.

On Monday, January 18, David Howard, 44, of Bellevue Road, Ramsgate, was stopped by police in his red Saab 93 in Manston Road, Margate. He failed to produce the correct insurance details and the car was found to have insufficient tread on two tyres.

He pleaded guilty before Canterbury Magistrates on May 28 and was disqualified from driving for six months, fined £400 for the insurance offence, fined £200 for the defective tyres and ordered to pay £50 court costs.

Crowds help dig up past

HUNDREDS of people discovered some of the secrets of Thanet's past at the Big Dig event at the weekend.

Two people who gave the thumbs-up were 10-year-old Samuel Bordas and his father, Chris Smith, of Second Avenue, Cliftonville.

They joined other volunteers working on the community excavation to unearth ancient artefacts.

Kent County Council principal archaeological officer Simon Mason said: "Everyone really enjoyed themselves. We were pleased they had the chance to see their local heritage. I had lots of positive comments."

Little Ship owner tells history of the Tom Tit

YOURTHANET'S Tom Betts meets Trevor Phillips, owner of the port-cruiser the Tom Tit, at the Dunkirk commemorations.

The boat has a unique Ramsgate story and was one of the famous Little Ships that played a vital role in the evacuation 70 years ago.

It crossed the Channel again as part of the flotilla of 60 ships, but not before Trevor had told us what he knew of the boat's past, its role in history and what it means to him to own such a precious thing.

School set to pay a fiery tribute to its Viking past

■ BY TOM BETTS

A VIKING boat will be burnt on Broadstairs beach as part of a school's celebrations to mark its links with the past.

The 32ft-long Viking longship will burn brightly on the beach for about 50 minutes on the evening of Saturday, June 26.

The fire will be lit at 8pm and everyone is invited to attend Viking Bay to watch the spectacle, which is being held to mark Bradstow School's 100th birthday.

The project has been put together by the school and the company Mears, which has built the boat on Bradstow grounds.

The boat will be burnt at Viking Bay to simulate a Viking funeral and there will be fireworks over the bay at 9.15pm the same night.

The school is built on an area known to be rich in archaeological history.

Digs on site have found many artefacts and a week of Viking-themed learning will be held to mark the centenary as part of a 100 Years Of Education, 6,000 Years Of History event.

Lorraine Miller, the school's inclusion development manager, said: "So much has been found here throughout the years, from the Bronze Age to Saxon and Iron Age remains, and every time we have something built a dig has to take place.

"So we wanted to celebrate the history of the site for the school's centenary."

BRIGHT IDEA: A re-enactment of a Viking burial will be the highlight of Bradstow School's centenary celebrations

The school will host a community weekend of celebrations which will include battle re-enactments and living-history exhibits by Regia Anglorum, the historical recreational group.

There will also be a picnic Viking banquet for 300 people at the school and a story-telling of Beowulf.

Three archaeological trusts will join forces to help the children perform a dig over two days.

There will be art workshops and battles and, as well as Bradstow students, 14 other schools will take part in the events.

Annabelle Macbeth, special projects coordinator of the Mears Group, said: "We hope the whole community will get involved and hope to see them all at the boat-burning on the beach as it will be quite a magical spectacle and will have music and commentary to accompany it."

New airport staff will help deal with Edinburgh service

THE owner of Kent International Airport says it has taken on 20 extra staff since the announcement of scheduled flights to Edinburgh was made.

The new staff are all said to "live locally" and have been taken on to ensure the new operation runs smoothly.

The service is operated by Flybe, Newmarket Holidays and CI Travel.

The new staff will be responsible for check-in and customer service, as well as sales and marketing, operating the shop and security of the airport.

In total the airport now employs 112 people to manage the airport's passenger and freight operations.

Tom Wilson, chief executive of Infratil Airports Europe, said: "With the new passenger services we are now able to deliver on our promise to increase the number of people employed at the airport.

"As well as the 112 employees, the airport also does business with more than a hundred companies across Kent."

The new recruits have just completed their training.

Marta Easton, senior customer services supervisor, said: "The team is very excited about the return of daily flights to the airport. By working closely with Flybe and charter airlines, we are confident our passengers will receive great customer service on a par with, if not better than, any other regional airport."

Meanwhile, Flybe has confirmed that passenger services to Edinburgh will now take place during the winter.

A daily service will travel up until March 26, 2011, meaning a year-round service will be in operation.

QUESTION & ANSWER

LINDA RYDER

Q What is your occupation and what does it involve?

A I'm a freelance journalist, PR and marketing person, an events organiser, promoter of Cyril Parfitt's artwork and I'm involved with developing a business network at the University of Kent at Canterbury with my husband. It may sound rather diverse, but all the things I'm involved with are connected to each other and sit happily side by side. My working life involves me generating ideas and then moving forward with them in a variety of ways. With my journalist hat on, I come up with ideas, research the topic, write it all down and sell the finished product and negotiate payment. I often take the accompanying photographs, too.

Q Do you enjoy what you do?

A I absolutely love the variety and the opportunity to find out about things that are going on, research interesting topics and meet people I otherwise wouldn't come across. All aspects of my working life keep me buzzing and allow me to unleash my creativity.

Q What has been the favourite story you have covered?

A Years ago I reported on the London exhibition of Linda McCartney's photographs. It was great to see such personal photos of my favourite musicians and also to tread the red carpet and twinkle with the stars.

Q Where in Thanet are you from and what are your favourite things about the isle?

A I'm from Ramsgate and the harbour is one of my favourite things about the isle – and the amazing architecture, sunsets and glorious sandy beaches, and having lots of sunny days when other parts of Britain don't. I love the contrast of the three main towns and then add to that the villages and countryside and you pretty much have it all. The proximity of London and Europe is another plus-factor as my work takes me all over the place. I do find it sad the way people run the area down. To all those with no vision, in the words of David Bach's Jonathan Livingstone Seagull: "Don't believe what your eyes are telling you. All they show is limitation. Look with your understanding. Find out what you already know and you will see the way to fly". This is a great place to live and with creative vision and sustained effort it can get even better.

Q Who is your hero/heroine?

A I love Vivienne Westwood for her quirky originality and admire anyone who does it 'their way'. As Cecil Beaton said: "Be daring, be different, be impractical, be anything that will assert integrity of purpose and imaginative vision against the play-it-safers, the creatures of the commonplace, the slaves of the ordinary". There are remarkable people in all fields and I admire originality, conviction in what you are doing and staying-power, so too many heroes to mention really.

Q What do you count as your greatest achievement?

A Taking the circuitous route through life to happiness and fulfilment and being able to make the most of life's opportunities.

Q Where do you see yourself in five years' time?

A Spending half the time in Ramsgate and half in the Mediterranean, self-indulgently working on my novels, with the occasional break for a bit of hedonistic pleasure.

Q What one wish would you have for Thanet's future?

A That we capitalise on what we have to offer here and create job opportunities for our young people so they don't have to move away from a place they love to find work. The area needs a healthy demographic balance.

Q Do you think Thanet has reached its potential?

A No, it's way off. Lots of opportunities exist to create sustainable tourism-based businesses. Things need to become far more commercial. Smartening up and reinstating some of the neglected places on the isle would make it an even nicer place to look at and to live in.

Reservists are in good company

A RAMSGATE firm has been recognised for supporting its employees who are members of the Volunteer Reserve Forces.

A representative of Maycoil Ltd was given a certificate at a Dover Castle reception hosted by Colonel David Saunders TD, Deputy Commander of 2 (South East) Brigade.

Col Saunders presented the Supporting Britain's Reservists and Employers (SaBRE) certificate to the firm, which installs and refurbishes lifts.

Maycoil employs Private Hoban, of C Company The Third Battalion The Princess of Wales's Royal Regiment.

Fleur Thomas, regional supporting Britain's Reservists and Employers campaign director, said: "Reservists perform a crucial role for the nation in support of the Armed Forces, and the skills and experience they gain makes them extremely valuable employees."

"Mobilisation has increased over the past few years and is often a time of concern to reservists, so having the support of their employer makes a huge difference."

More information about the rights and obligations of Reservist employers is available at www.sabre.mod.uk.

Ladyman's off to pastures new in homes job move

THE former Labour MP for Thanet South is to quit isle life.

Dr Stephen Ladyman is taking up a position with a care-provider that builds private care accommodation for the elderly.

Having lost his seat to Conservative challenger Laura Sandys at the general election on May 6, Dr Ladyman will be moving to the Stratford-upon-Avon area for his new job.

He has put his Chilton Farmhouse home near Pegwell on the market.

Dr Ladyman is married to Janet, who worked as his secretary when he was constituency MP.

He said: "This will be a real wrench for us as we love the area and our house, but there is no alternative as I have to work and the offer is too good to turn down both personally and as an opportunity to continue to do something I believe in and which makes a positive contribution to society."

Dr Ladyman was the MP for Thanet South for 13 years, coming to office in 1997 when Tony Blair and New Labour swept to power after 18 years of Conservative government.

He defeated disgraced Tory Jonathan Aitken

The former Pfizer man exchanged banter with host Jeremy Clarkson about speed-cameras and beat the presenter's own lap time.

Now Dr Ladyman will become chief executive of Retirement Security, which he describes as being the "country's leading supplier of this type of accommodation for purchase".

The company's founder and chairman, Robert Bessell, is due to retire soon, so Dr Ladyman will replace him.

"He wanted someone who could take over and expand the company," said Dr Ladyman.

Celebration Rolls into town

BY NICK AMES

SOME 100 Rolls-Royce cars along the seafront, mock-up Napoleonic War battles and a fireworks display from the Prince of Wales Pier were among the highlights during a weekend of celebration in Dover.

Despite a poor weather forecast and early mist, thousands turned up for the display.

The Rolls-Royce Wings and Wheels marked the 100th anniversary of the first non-stop return flight across the channel, by Charles S Rolls, and featured a programme of free events.

The main celebrations started at 10.15pm on Saturday with a fireworks and pyrotechnic display sponsored by Dover Town Council.

The remaining events focused on the Sunday and included up to 100 Rolls-Royce cars, the earliest dating back to the 1920s and 30s, displayed from noon on the seafront by the South Eastern section of the Rolls-Royce Enthusiasts Club.

Charles Rolls's only surviving car, an 1899 Panhard Levassor, was also on display, courtesy of Norfolk Museum Service.

Just after midday a ceremony was held at the newly-renovated Charles Rolls statue, where Dover council leader Bernard Butcher praised the inventor as "an inspiration".

His speech was followed by an address from Dover mayor Sue Jones, who said how proud the town was of its heritage.

The poor weather caused the cancellation of a display by the Battle of Britain flight, but a solo Spitfire did make an appearance before setting off for France in tribute to Charles Rolls.

On his return, the pilot of the legendary aircraft was able to stage a flypast in front of the crowd.

A new display about the town's connections with Rolls-Royce is on show at Dover Museum until Sunday, September 5.

It features a range of incredible objects on loan from across the country, including a rare Eagle Engine designed by Henry Royce.

The Western Heights Preservation Society also opened the Drop Redoubt Napoleonic Fort on the Western Heights all weekend with a display of period military costumes and drill by re-enactors. Highlights included a mock skirmish between British and French soldiers using the walls and staircase of the old fort as a backdrop.

The celebrations were put together by Dover District Council, Dover Town Council and Dover Harbour Board, with sponsorship from Rolls-Royce.

FA rewards the unsung heroes

WHILE players, managers and even referees can dominate the headlines in football, one group of people which keeps the whole show on the road is often overlooked.

At grass-roots level, organised football simply could not happen without the dedication of an army of volunteers working behind the scenes. Selflessly giving up their free time so others can enjoy the game, they are the glue that holds everything together.

It is an issue the FA is attempting to address through community awards which look to recognise these unsung heroes.

One example is Mark Rogers, who won Kent's Outstanding Contribution To Community Football prize last month for his work as secretary at the Sheppey Sunday League.

In his four years in the role he has helped transform the league's fortunes.

Mr Rogers said: "You do it because you love what you're doing. I didn't think I was doing anything special."

"I'm passionate about grass-roots football. It can be like a part-time job, but you get out what you put in."

Lee Suter, football development officer at the Kent County FA, put the volunteers' dedication into perspective.

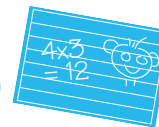

He said: "They are superb and tireless. You can't put a value on their contribution – without them we would struggle."

It's not just ex-players giving something back. A group of teenagers in Kent is involved in the FA Leadership and Volunteering Programme, with Bradley Pay among the first to put in 50 hours.

The 16-year-old said: "I love football and want to be involved as much as I can. I get a lot of happiness out of seeing the kids I coach enjoying themselves."

Publication is top playground read

NEWSHOUNDS at St Peter's junior school are producing a lively and colourful monthly magazine.

The eagerly-awaited eight-page journal features articles about school life written by members of the editorial team.

They put the magazine together at after-school meetings every Monday. Topics include interviews, sports, games, hobbies and interests, reviews and exciting events around the school.

Money from the 50-pence cover-price goes towards funding the project.

The title of the magazine, Criss Cross, was chosen following a competition among pupils, which was won by ten-year-old George Dyerson. His inspiration came from the school logo – the cross keys.

Head-teacher Sharon Irvine said: "The editorial group show a lot of initiative in producing the magazine and their excellent efforts are worthwhile.

"I hope more pupils will become involved so that the magazine can continue each school year with fresh ideas and input."

Marlowe team puts icing on grand cake

MORE than £1,000 has been raised in less than a month for Demelza House children's hospice through cake sales and a non-school-uniform day.

The money was collected by a team of sixth-formers at the Marlowe Academy in Ramsgate.

The hospice in Sittingbourne offers residential short stays for children with life-limiting conditions.

Volunteers give unwanted goods a new lease of life

■ BY TOM BETTS

A COMMUNITY shed that will recycle and renovate unwanted furniture and household items for further use by local people is being set up by the Marlowe Academy.

Work on the shed – a small garage – started at the end of last month.

People can donate unwanted items which a team of Marlowe volunteers, teachers and staff will repair and bring back into use.

The furniture can then be sold for a small fee or given to people in need such as families fleeing domestic violence or students and youngsters setting up home.

The community-shed scheme is the brainchild of Sarah Grange, a police community support officer based at the academy.

She worked with business-teacher Jane Prince to launch the scheme and help raise funds from outside agencies.

Year 12 students were brought in to plan the scheme, setting out a mission statement, aims and objectives, marketing and financing.

The academy hopes to involve the following partners in the scheme: a church, Surestart, social services, the youth service and careers service Connexions.

It is hoped that donations of furniture and other goods will be made to applicants referred by social services, youth projects, Surestart, Homestart, community projects and support and guidance.

Ms Grange said: "The scheme should benefit everybody involved in it because it not only helps local people but also involves Marlowe staff and students in five curricular disciplines – maths, English, science, art and emotional intelligence. It also helps younger students to learn new skills and boost their confidence levels."

Staff will volunteer to help with carpentry and joinery instruction, electrical maintenance and painting and decorating.

Other students will be able to improve their business skills by gaining work experience in finance, marketing, administration, project management and customer service. They will also benefit from team-working.

Students will get accreditation for having worked as volunteers.

Marlowe Academy principal Ian Johnson said: "This is yet a further example of the academy's commitment to the community and the ingenuity and enterprise of its staff and people who work with us."

Pupils see difference charity makes to Africa

CHILDREN and adults in Africa will be able to see more clearly now thanks to support from Birchington youngsters.

The village primary school has donated more than 80 pairs of unwanted glasses and spectacles to a project run by Thanet Leos – the junior branch of the Thanet Lions charity.

Rachael Hammond from Clarendon House Grammar in Ramsgate is coordinating a collection in her school and was delighted with the response after Birchington primary children read about her appeal for more support.

She said: "It was amazing. The school contacted me and I went over to collect their old spectacles. I did not expect a huge box full. It is a fantastic effort that will really make such an impact.

"I have been to Uganda with the GAP Project via Queens Road Baptist Church in Broadstairs and have seen just how much difference it makes to the lives of poor people when they are matched up with glasses that enable them to see, often for the first time in many years."

Rachael was presented with the box by year 6 pupils Maia Cocks and Tom Valek, both aged 11.

The young Leo leader hopes to return to Birchington primary to give a short talk to pupils about the sight project in Africa.

A2 Neanderthal finds could now change history

■ BY CHRIS MURPHY

A NEW discovery suggests that Neanderthal man returned to Kent after being forced out by a fierce environment much earlier than previously thought.

It was always known that Neanderthals had lived in Britain before retreating to mainland Europe during an ice age 200,000 years ago, but a fresh find of flints shows they came back much earlier than previously thought.

Neanderthal man lived in Europe for 260,000 years. Scientists had believed the ancestors of modern man arrived in Britain about 65,000 years ago.

But this find means they may have to revise their time-frame.

The flints are waste flakes from the manufacture of unknown tools probably used to cut up animals for food.

A University of Southampton archaeologist and the group Oxford Archaeology spotted evidence that Neanderthals were living in Britain at the start of the last ice age.

Commissioned by Oxford Archaeology, the university's Dr Francis Wenban-Smith discovered two ancient flint handtools at the junction of the M25 and the A2.

They were found during a Highways Agency excavation and mean that Dartford could have been founded by the Neanderthals.

Tests on sediment burying the flints show they date from some 110,000 years ago, proving Neanderthals were living in Britain at this time.

Until now, it was believed Kent and all of the UK was an empty wilderness after the ice age forced everyone south 200,000 years ago, with Neanderthals not returning until 65,000 years ago.

Dr Wenban-Smith said: "I couldn't believe my eyes when I received the test results.

"We know Neanderthals inhabited northern France at this time, but this new evidence suggests that as soon as sea levels dropped, and a 'land bridge' appeared across the Channel, they made the journey by foot to Kent."

HARD EVIDENCE: The flints suggest human occupation

Oxford Archaeology project manager David Score said: "The fieldwork uncovered a significant amount of activity at the Dartford site in the Bronze Age and Roman periods.

"It is deeper trenches that have yielded the most interesting results – shedding light on a long period when there was assumed to have been an absence of early man from Britain."

One theory is that Neanderthals may have been attracted back to Kent by the flint-rich chalk downs visible from France. These supported mammoth, rhino, horse and deer – an important food source in subarctic conditions.

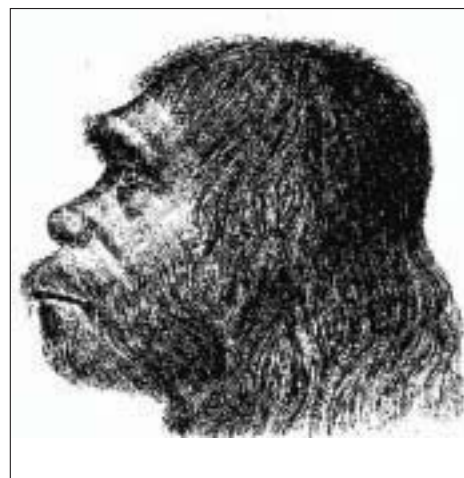

Dr Wenban-Smith said: "These are people who had no real shelter – no houses, not even caves, so we can only speculate that by the time they returned, they had developed physiologically to cope with the cold, as well as behavioural strategies such as planning winter stores and making good use of fire."

Dr Wenban-Smith said more evidence was needed to date their occupations accurately.

Other results from the project include the discovery of a woolly-rhino tooth in the flood-plain gravels of the River Darent, dated at some 40,000 years old.

Kent and Essex join forces

A GROUNDBREAKING new plan will see Kent and Essex police officers working together in one crime-fighting unit.

The Serious Crime Directorate will tackle big-league offenders including armed-robbery gangs and drug smugglers from its base in Ebbsfleet.

A total of 1,100 officers and support staff make up the new elite force, which will have its own intelligence network, surveillance teams and forensics experts.

In charge is Kent Assistant Chief Constable Alan Pughley, who is convinced that he will forge a formidable unit.

"This is a groundbreaking initiative when it comes to UK policing," he said.

The purpose of the new organisation is to tackle the most serious criminal offenders.

Mr Pughley said: "The advantage we will have is that we will be able to commit more resources to investigations."

Essex was chosen to partner Kent in the new initiative because of the problems faced by both forces.

"One problem is criminals who are coming out of London and committing offences elsewhere, so we have ensured that the Metropolitan Police Force will be working with us."

Officers from the new unit are already operating but not at the joint level. It is expected to be fully operational in April 2012, but police say many parts will be in action before that date.

Police say the new unit will not cost anything to put into action as the resources are already there.

But this plan will see the first formal large-scale tie-up between the county forces.

"This is a way forward for policing in this country," said Mr Pughley.

Council failed to tell us boats weren't coming

The well-publicised return of the Little Ships from Dunkirk to Ramsgate drew many visitors to Ramsgate harbour on Bank Holiday Monday, and it was with an increasing sense of outrage that those of us who had been sitting on the harbour wall during the entire afternoon found out – around 4.30pm – that the event had been cancelled early that morning.

No news was posted at the entrance to the harbour for visitors to be aware of that.

I ended up phoning Dunkirk, only to be told the cancellation decision had been taken at 6am and communicated to Ramsgate.

If this is how Thanet treats its visitors, it is unlikely to gain any credibility for its promotion of such events.

You can forget Dynamo Day in future.

People had travelled down from London and all over the South East following information put out by local council websites and in local news follow-up stories.

One elderly lady in a wheelchair had travelled by train, then her carer had pushed her all the way from Ramsgate station to the harbour – a very long walk – to see the Little Ships come in.

It is no good simply publicising events and leaving them to run themselves.

The cancellation should have been properly announced in the harbour for all to be aware, early in the day.

I suppose – having attracted a higher-than-usual number of visitors – Thanet council did not want the financial advantages to be lost by announcing there would be nothing to see.

Disgraceful.

G Thomas
by email

• A Thanet council spokeswoman gave the following response: "As soon as the council, as the operators of the harbour, became aware that the fleet would not be returning on Bank Holiday Monday, we informed local media to ensure that information was available on websites. Priority was given to informing radio stations, as obviously they were able to get the message out to listeners on the day. The council's harbour staff also advised members of the public that they met of the situation."

Still time to award a medal to BEF heroes

We as a nation are currently celebrating the success of saving the soldiers of the British Expeditionary Force from the beaches at Dunkirk.

As we have done, to a lesser or greater extent, for many years.

It has always been a mystery to me why there was never a

Ian Macmillan suggests the role of the military should come under greater scrutiny

THE phrase 'sacred cow' originates from India, where the Hindu religion dictates that cattle are sacrosanct.

The military – the United Kingdom's sacred cow – appears to have carte blanche to waste money and lives in a jaw-dropping way that appears to be impervious to rational contrary argument.

As for criticism, only someone very brave or foolish would dare to go there. Someone like me perhaps.

Take the independent (ha ha) nuclear deterrent. The argument against Trident is so convincing that one feels sorry for the opposition.

It's similar to shooting fish in a barrel but, as in many matters concerning the military, winning the argument seems irrelevant.

Presumably, so the Colonel Blimps go, the citizens of the Scandinavian countries, The Netherlands, Belgium (I'm tempted to write the 'civilised' countries) must all be quaking in their boots since they don't have an 'independent nuclear deterrent'.

Poor so-and-sos, they spend money on hospitals, schools and so on, rather than on defence.

And there is an even more Orwellian word. 'Defence', I mean.

Seventy years ago, brave men really did defend this country and I, a few months old at the time, acknowledge the debt that I owe them.

That is the last time the military defended us. Since then, it has been involved in failed attempts to hang on to the Empire or in obeying orders from Uncle

Sam, and if anyone mentions either the Falklands or Northern Ireland I'd simply point them in the direction of an atlas.

Can we at least call this pointless waste of lives and money 'offence' rather than 'defence'? Aggression even? All Osama bin Laden wanted was for the West to get out of Moslem lands.

So far so unpopular, but what about the soldiery? Even the peace camp near Parliament claims to be against illegal and pointless wars but is happy to support the troops, aka 'our brave lads'.

I am a father and a grandfather. I can only imagine the pain of the parents of the soldiers killed in action.

As a victim of a severe road accident in 1979, I can also empathise with the injured soldiers.

As for a career involving killing strangers on behalf of our pathetic government (what soldiers do), I beg to differ from the conventional opinion.

One doesn't have to be religious to believe that killing is wrong, and personally I see no difference in moral terms between the state-sponsored variety or the private equivalent more commonly known as murder.

And, as for making life safer here, domestic terrorism is fuelled by our ill-conceived involvement in Moslem lands.

Finally, as far as soldiery is concerned, following the Nuremberg trials after the Second World War, obeying orders was not an acceptable defence.

campaign medal struck and awarded to the veterans of the BEF.

Apparently, the Army considers the general World War Two medal, given to anybody who served in this conflict, covers the 'The Battle for France'.

There has been a medal issued for the troops who were rescued from the beaches, but what about the 30,000 or so troops Montgomery sacrificed as a rearguard action?

Mainly the 51st Highland Division and the heroic actions of the 23rd (TA) Field Artillery, who were wiped out at St Valery.

The action in which these soldiers were engaged was never, ever emulated in any other Second World War battles involving the British Army – where, from the start, the odds were so unequal that they were not expected to survive.

The gallantry shown was never recognised by the Army as the actions of the individual troops were never reported by the officers as almost all of them were killed during the action or died later as prisoners of war.

Many Victoria Crosses would have been awarded to the heroic men of the 23rd RA, who were all TA volunteers and who stopped the Panzer tanks entering Dunkirk.

They only ceased fighting because they had run out of ammunition and serviceable field guns, and this was days after the last men had left the beaches.

Their fate was to spend the entire war as POWs, apart from the ones murdered on the spot by German SS regiments.

Surely we should now show our gratitude, and at least give recognition to the odd few who are left, by awarding a BEF campaign medal for these special people who made it possible for so many to be saved.

The feeble failings of our police authority

Ann Barnes, chairwoman of the Kent Police Authority, is quite wrong when she claims that the Government's proposals for elected police commissioners are driven "purely by dogma".

On the contrary, this policy is evidence-driven – and part of the copious evidence is my own experience of this feeble organisation.

The KPA is hopeless at effective public consultation. Just like Kent County Council, Thanet District Council and Kent Police themselves (the so-called "community safety partners"), they seem to think that a lot of glossy leaflets and press photo-opportunities and time-wasting meetings constitute effective public engagement.

It is hopeless at holding the police to account at virtually every level – policing of the Kingsnorth demonstrations, for example, or the police's poor record in keeping to Freedom of Information legislation, or the rudeness of senior officers to members of the public, or the persistent misrepresentation by the police of crime statistics, or the previous chief constable's expensive travel-to-work arrangements.

Moreover, we should not get too excited by the cumbersome process of selecting a new chief constable and Mrs Barnes's expressions of confidence in the man eventually chosen, Ian Learmonth.

A quick check of Her Majesty's Chief Inspector of Constabulary's assessments of his current force, Norfolk, shows that it performs exactly as Kent Police have performed in every category that is assessed.

So he is no better and no worse than the last chap.

I wish Mr Learmonth well in his new post – but it would make his task easier if he were subject to effective, constructive challenge from a high-powered elected commissioner rather than a bunch of well-meaning retired brigadiers, county councillors and magistrates.

MEPs must act over Israel's flotilla raid

Kent Green Party is urging MPs and MEPs to take action against Israel after the killing of at least nine people in the Mediterranean.

Those attacked were on board the 'Freedom Flotilla', taking 10,000 tons of humanitarian aid to the Gaza Strip, which is currently under an Israeli blockade.

The flotilla was unarmed, and film made of the Israeli attack appears to show Israeli soldiers opening fire on unarmed civilians.

Israel's armed forces have engaged in piracy similar to that which might normally be associated with the seas off Somalia.

If such action had been taken by Iran, Western states might well have declared war by now.

Israel's role in avoidable wars in Lebanon in 2006, and more recently in Gaza, has been characterised by attacks on facilities such as schools, hospitals and buildings of humanitarian organisations.

Remarkably little has been done by the international community to bring Israel to justice.

Preventing Gaza obtaining much-needed humanitarian aid is bad enough, but killing aid-workers is a new low in Israeli military actions.

Kent Green Party calls on MPs and MEPs representing Kent and Medway to ensure sanctions are brought against Israel.

Kent Green Party also urges the public to write to MPs and MEPs pressing them to take action: the details of elected representatives can be found at <http://www.theyworkforyou.com/mp/>. Reasonable actions that might now be taken against Israel include:

- An end to the EU-Israel Agreement.
- The removal of Israel from the Organisation for Cooperation and Development.
- Encouragement of long-term boycott, divestment and sanctions of Israel to bring about an end to the blockade of Gaza and start peace talks in the region.

Flying Scotsmen are more pie in the sky

What is Manston airport for now?

Claims of inbound Scottish tourists are nonsense – we're simply reducing the economy of Kent by flying Thanet citizens for flights that are available an hour or so's drive away – and jeopardising air and cancer levels.

And with an airport built on Thanet's drinking water supply (see <http://savethanetwatersupply.blogspot.com>).

Isn't Manston now an example of the incompetence and hubris of Kent County Council and Thanet council in having no ideas on regeneration whatsoever?

A head for the isle

Well done to Andy Somers, head-teacher of Hartsdown Technology College, for putting the interests of Thanet children first and saying no to London boroughs keep dumping their needy youngsters here.

I wish more people, across all sectors, would follow his example.

BUDGET cuts at the Department for Transport could hamper the chances of the £16 billion Crossrail project being extended into Kent.

Last week Transport Minister Theresa Villiers warned she was looking for "value for money" in the scheme, prompting fears that several proposed stations may be scrapped.

Current plans for the new 74-mile network see it running from Maidenhead in Berkshire to Abbey Wood in London and Shenfield in Essex, with stops throughout the capital, including at Heathrow.

Kent County Council and former Labour MP for Dartford Howard Stoate were hopeful the project could also be extended into the north of the county, but this now appears less likely given that stations included in the original plan – including Maidenhead and Abbey Wood – are now under threat amid reports of the new Tory government seeking a £5bn saving.

Despite the proposed cuts, Dr Stoate's Tory successor Gareth Johnson said he was not giving up on the idea just yet.

He said: "I would deeply love to see Crossrail

Hopes of Crossrail link fade as Tories sharpen costs axe

CUT OFF: KCC's hopes to link Ebbsfleet with Crossrail have taken a dive extended right to Ebbsfleet, but it's going to come down to costings quite frankly because we've got to sort out the financial deficit.

"There are lots of negotiations going on at the moment and the finer details of the operation are still being worked on.

"I'd be surprised if there was an announcement soon that Crossrail will be extended into north Kent, but we hope it's still a medium-term goal and it's something we will continue to pursue."

Crossrail is the UK's biggest transport project since the Channel Tunnel, with the first trains due to run on the line by 2017.

Gridlock

The scheme is included in KCC's 'growth without gridlock' transport strategy, which states the authority is "keen to see the route extended to Gravesend with good interchange at Ebbsfleet International".

However, Nick Chard – cabinet member for environment, highways and waste – declined to comment on speculation about the project.

Former transport secretary Geoff Hoon raised the possibility of Crossrail reaching Kent when he accepted an invitation from Dr Stoate to visit Dartford in March last year.

He said at the time: "Howard has pressed me hard on the question of Crossrail and the extension to Ebbsfleet. We have preserved the route and made it a possibility, and I'm certainly not ruling it out."

Family to sue negligent hospital over young mother's death

A WIDOWER whose wife died when a hospital's treatment of her fell woefully below what would be expected is taking legal action.

Donna Maben, 33, died from septicaemia at the William Harvey Hospital, near her home in Ashford.

An inquest was highly critical of her treatment and care, and now husband Ian has instructed lawyers to fight for compensation.

Solicitor Sarah Harman said she could not talk about the case but confirmed the litigation.

She said: "The family are taking legal action. The trust has admitted liability and we are negotiating."

Asked when the case would be going into court, she said: "When you are negotiating, you are not quite sure."

Donna died on May 11, 2009.

The mother of a baby had been admitted to hospital on Wednesday, April 21, suffering from abdominal pains and yet was discharged just three days later. She collapsed in agony two weeks later and was finally given surgery on a twisted bowel that had gone gangrenous. But by then it was too late for her.

The coroner was horrified at the circumstances of the death. Rachel Redman, who recorded a narrative verdict, said delays in operating and confusion over her treatment led to her death and she wrote to Stuart Bain, the chief executive of East Kent Hospitals University NHS Foundation Trust, with her concerns.

Donna's distraught husband Ian said: "They [the hospital] just weren't giving her the treatment you'd expect. Simple things – a lack of fluids – even me, not being medically trained, know that if you're taking in two litres of fluid and three litres of fluid are going out that's not a good thing."

When the damning verdict was announced, Steven Pompeus, of East Kent Hospitals NHS Trust, said: "The trust would like to take this opportunity to apologise unreservedly for Donna's death."

"The trust fully accepts the verdict of the coroner and would like to reassure the public that changes have already been implemented to ensure the same tragic outcome does not happen again."

Eclectic mix for festival line-up

Motown legends, rising talent and an all-new comedy tent are just a few of the highlights to be enjoyed as Lounge on the Farm celebrates its fifth anniversary

LOUNGE ON THE FARM

Friday to Sunday, July 9-11

Merton Farm, Canterbury

FROM 60s superstars to the best of today's new talent, Lounge on the Farm returns next month for another musical extravaganza.

This year's diverse line-up boasts an eclectic range of acts to suit every taste, so the award-winning festival looks set to provide even more quality entertainment for music-lovers of all ages. Last year Lounge on the Farm picked up the Best Line-Up accolade at the UK Festival Awards and the new bill is as tempting as ever.

Highlights include Motown legends Martha Reeves and the Vandellas, who will be transporting the audience back to the heady days when the Detroit soul sound was taking the world by storm. The uplifting summer sound of ska and reggae will be heard when Toots and the Maytals bring their unmistakable Jamaican vibe to the Kent countryside, while jazz saxophonist Courtney Pine shows why he has become an icon of his field.

Irish singer-songwriter Fionn Regan draws on influences such as Bob Dylan and Neil Diamond, with the resulting sound earning a Mercury Prize nomination for his debut album. With more than 180 acts playing over seven stages during the three-day festival, music-lovers will be spoiled for choice.

Exciting

On Saturday, Moshi Moshi and Wichita Recordings host the Sheepdip and they have lined up a fantastic selection of acts, showing off the two record labels' most exciting talents.

The bill includes Slow Club, Silver Columns, Hot Club De Paris, The Wave Pictures, James Yuill, Gold Panda, First Aid Kit, Veronica Falls, Dam Mantle, Spectrals and Summer Camp.

To mark Lounge on the Farm's fifth birthday, there are even bigger names than ever this year, with acts such as Erland and the Carnival, Quantic and his Combo Bárbaro, These New Puritans, Hexstatic, Ashley Beedle and Nathan Detroit due to perform.

Along with some of the country's most exciting bands, Kent's music scene will be well represented. The long list of local acts appearing includes Matthew P, Yearner Babies, Electric River, Lucy Kitt, Tom Williams and the Boat, Liam Magill, Syd Arthur, Speakers Corner Quartet and many more.

Camden's Flowerpot has put together a great line-up for the Farm Folk tent and folk fans can look forward to performances by Kitty, Daisy and Lewis, Johnny Flynn, Peggy Sue, Barker Band, Alan Pownall, The Agitator, Beans on Toast, Rum Shebeen, Lulu and the Lampshades, Handshake, The Joker and the Thief and Medicine Show.

Dubbed Out will be bringing out the bass in style, with appearances by DJ Yoda, Beardyman, Jakwob, Cyantific, The Others and Marc Sov.

After all the excitement of the day's performances, festival-goers can chill out with some late-night acoustic performances as Strummerville brings its Campfire Sessions to the Further Field.

More than just a music festival, Lounge on the Farm also picked up the Best Festival For Foodies award from a national newspaper two years ago. By only accepting food traders from Kent and Sussex and insisting on strict sourcing guidelines, the festival organisers aim to offer festival-goers tasty samples of the region's produce.

There will also be theatre, drama and performance to look forward to, along with a heavyweight line-up in the comedy tent.

Television favourite Phill Jupitus and his Improv Alls Stars will be headlining, as will the charismatic Howard Marks.

Weekend tickets cost £95 for adults, £75 for youths, £45 for children and £210 for families. Day tickets are £40 for adults, £30 for youths and £20 for children. To book, visit www.loungeonthefarm.co.uk or call 0844 888 9991.

BILLY ELLIOT

Monday, June 14, to Saturday, June 19, Granville Theatre, Ramsgate

A YOUNG boy battles against the odds to follow his dream in the hugely popular musical, Billy Elliot.

Stage Door Theatre Company presents the show in collaboration with Billy Youth Theatre, a new initiative which gives local companies the chance to perform the international award-winning musical.

Set during the miners' strike of the 80s, Billy Elliot follows the story of a boy who discovers dance and dreams of a stage career. But growing up in the north-east, he faces the disapproval of his family and fears that his desire will never be realised.

This story of hope and the potential of us all to live creatively fulfilling lives has been an enormous success. As part of the initiative, Stage Door's director Heidi Moran and musical director Edward Greenhalgh took part in a workshop with the people behind the successful London production. There is the possibility that the show could be staged at a major regional theatre and even be performed at the Billy Youth Theatre West End Gala in July.

To book tickets, call the box office on 01843 591750.

Wheatus to play extra night, fact

TEENAGE DIRTBAGS: US soft-rockers Wheatus will be at The Forum this month

■ BY SIMON ROBINSON

LIFE is all about learning, so I'm told, and every day we're bound to learn something new.

Sometimes the new information is interesting, quirky or random enough to be deemed worth sharing with colleagues, loved ones or guests at dinner parties.

The feedback from such outbursts is often varied.

For instance, did you know that Mel Blanc, who provided the voice for Bugs Bunny, was ironically allergic to carrots?

If not, then congratulations, you've learned something new today. Whether you were impressed by this nugget of new information is a different matter.

Either way, feel free to enlighten/bore someone else with this random trivia.

Sadly, as you get older, the frequency of interesting new information declines.

Every so often, though, a real gem will appear from nowhere.

I had the good fortune to learn something random last week, while I was scouring emails and internet message boards to find a subject for this very column.

A quick click on the Tunbridge Wells Forum website revealed that – owing to huge demand – a second Wheatus date had been added to the venue's calendar.

And there it was – who knew Kent had so many Wheatus fans? Up until that point I was blissfully unaware that our green and pleasant county is home to so many Teenage Dirtbags.

It's important to remember that Wheatus have scored just two UK chart successes since starting out 15 years ago.

The American soft-rockers' hits were Teenage Dirtbag, the lyrics of which have somehow burned themselves into my mind, and A Little Respect, a pop cover of Erasme's classic single.

But who am I to judge?

All that matters is that I now know that Kent has a truck-load of Wheatus fans.

Too many, in fact, to fit inside The Forum for their gig on Monday, June 21.

All of which convinced venue bosses to add a second date the following night, tickets for which are on sale now at £10 each.

Support on the night comes from MC Frontalot, Strong Like Bull and Jed Grayston.

BY THE SEASIDE: With its spectacular beaches, historic attractions and range of outdoor pursuits, Jersey offers adventures for all the family yourgetaways

Get all the fun and sun of the continent, just an hour away

■ BY JAMES ALEXANDRE

ASK someone about Jersey and you may not always get a straightforward answer, such is its place in both history and geography.

The largest of the Channel Islands, it is closest to Britain in terms of culture and politics but is virtually on the doorstep of France, with much of its vocabulary derived from the Norman tongue.

What was once the centre of many battles between the two now represents the best of each country's merits, ranging from sandy beaches to outdoor activities and great eateries.

A comfortable flight time of about an hour from Lydd airport, the healthier, sunnier climate is noticeable as soon as you land, thanks to the nearby Gulf Stream.

My first port of call was St Brelades Bay on the south side, only a few minutes' drive from the airport yet wonderfully secluded.

After a tasty, healthy lunch of crab risotto overlooking the beach, a quick walk around the picturesque church and Fisherman's Chapel gives a sense of the history that pervades this small island.

I had a particular family interest in this as my great-grandfather was a sail-maker who hailed from Jersey.

On closer inspection, I found a Nicholas Alexandre inscribed as one of the former rectors of the church, dating from the 16th Century.

There is plenty of choice for thrill-seekers, from sand-yachting to kayaking, and the daredevil in me went for the abseiling.

Instructor John Fox, who runs Jersey Adventures, was friendly and helpful, showing me how to handle the ropes as I gradually made my way down the side of one of the many old German war forts dotted around the coast.

The picture-postcard setting of Corbiere lighthouse greets you as you make your way round the south-western tip to St Ouen's Bay.

Its stunning beach stretches for miles, making it a surfers' paradise. The Michelin-recommended El Tico cantina is perfectly placed to make the most of the Atlantic views.

A leisurely morning cycle-ride along some of Jersey's dedicated 'green lanes' is a great way to experience the countryside up close.

Blue Badge guide Arthur Lamy offers scenic tours of varying difficulty, including an introductory one that takes you from the centre of St Helier through to Gorey, home of Jersey Pottery and a great place to buy both lunch and a memento.

For families and animal-lovers, the Durrell Wildlife Conservation Trust offers a great chance to see first-hand the work being done to James Alexandre travelled with Jersey Tourism and CI Travel Group. Weekly flights depart Lydd airport July 10-September 4, at 12.50pm and 2pm, leaving Jersey at 11.15am and 12.20pm. A service runs from Manston airport (www.kentinternationalairport-manston.com). Seven-night holiday from £299 per person per week. To find out more, visit www.discoverjersey.com or phone 0844 4156653. Activities: outdoor pursuits (www.jerseyadventures.com), cycling (www.cycleinjersey.com), Durrell Wildlife Conservation Trust (www.durrell.org), Jersey War Tunnels (www.jerseywartunnels.com). James stayed at the Hotel de France, St Saviour's Road, St Helier JE1 7XP (01534 614000 www.defrance.co.uk) and ate at The Boat House, 1 North Quay, St Aubin (01534 744226) and Saffrons, Hotel de France help endangered species.

The Jersey War Tunnels capture the impact of the five-year German occupation, where you can go through the deep underground complex.

In the administrative centre of St Helier, the Victorian and fish markets offer a chance to savour some of today's island living, together with numerous shops and cafés leading to and from the Royal Square.

An exhibition on the life of Marilyn Monroe is on display at the Jersey Museum until September, while other highlights include a 19th-century merchant's house.

The four-star Hotel de France in St Helier has excellent spa facilities, and two restaurants – the contemporary Café Aroma and the fine Indian cuisine at Saffrons.

With so much on offer and to explore, Jersey is a welcome break in a climate free from the hassle of Continental travel but with the sunshine associated with going abroad.

Kent League Division Two

Broadstairs 1st XI v Catford & Cyphers 1st XI

BROADSTAIRS continue to impress in Division Two after this 76-run victory over lowly Catford & Cyphers lifted them up two places into third.

Having won the toss and opting to bat, Broadstairs got off to a solid start as Michael Ross and Dave Benfield put on 69 for the first wicket before Benfield was caught and bowled by Neneto Davis for 36.

Undeterred, Broadstairs ploughed on and Alex Hogben joined Ross to add 71 to the total, with Broadstairs in command at 140 for 2 by the time Hogben departed.

Ross eventually fell to the bowling of Richard Dear, but his knock of 88 was to prove crucial as Broadstairs declared on 260 for 8 after 48 overs.

In truth, Catford never threatened to challenge their target, with none of their top six batsmen passing 20 as Ross and Liam Narraway chipped away with the ball.

Knowing the game was virtually beyond his side, Catford's Kirk Hamilton threw caution to the wind and blasted 65 from 72 balls but his endeavours were too late to save the visitors, who were all out for 184 in the 44th over.

Ross, Narraway and Chris Kidd all collected three wickets and Broadstairs will now have their sights set on second-placed High Halstow, who they trail by a single point.

A trip to third-bottom side HSBC awaits for Scott Narraway's side on Saturday as they bid to record back-to-back wins for the first time this season and keep their promotion push on track.

Solid batting keeps Broadstairs on track

IN THE GROOVE: Broadstairs (batting) kept their promotion charge going with a comfortable victory over Catford & Cyphers

KENT LEAGUE DIVISION ONE

Sandwich Town 1st XI v Harvel 1st XI

OLIVER Robinson hit a century as Sandwich Town romped to a crushing 183-run victory at home to Harvel.

The hosts stumbled to 7 for 3 at one stage, but a superb stand of 145 between Robinson (119) and Vishaul Singh (61) swung the balance towards Sandwich. Helped by a useful 45 from Gavin Lawrence, they reached 278 before they were all out.

Harvel never looked like threatening a successful run chase, losing wickets at regular intervals. Craig Spanton took 3 for 25, while Tom Chapman, Tom Dilnot-Smith and Matthew van Poppel chipped in to dismiss the visitors for 95.

KENT REGIONAL LEAGUE PREMIER DIVISION

Westgate-on-Sea 1st XI v Nonington 1st XI

THERE was a thrilling finish at Hawtneys Field on Saturday as Nonington narrowly lost out to Westgate-on-Sea by six runs.

None of the home side's batsmen scored a half-century after batting first, but solid scoring right the way down the card saw them pass 250 from their 46 overs.

Nonington opener David Luckhurst departed without troubling the scorers, but the visitors' innings then followed the earlier example set by their hosts. Helped by 35 runs in extras they closed in on victory, but fell just short when the overs ran out.

KENT REGIONAL LEAGUE 1B EAST

Dover Cosmopolitans 1st XI v St Margaret's 1st XI

THIS low-key affair went the way of St Margaret's by five wickets as Dover Cosmopolitans wilted against the excellent bowling of Peter Bowley.

Bowley took 5 for 23 as the home side limped along to 115 for 9 from their 46 overs, with only opener Chris Hadley scoring in excess of 20 before he, too, fell to Bowley.

St Margaret's made hard work of their run-chase, however, with three batsmen departing for single-figure scores before completing victory in the 36th over.

Blues lose out in tug of war for Aveley hitman

FOOTBALL

BY STEVE TERVET

MARGATE remain in the market for another three new signings despite the news that striker Martin Tuohy has snubbed the Blues in order to join Braintree Town.

Tuohy, who helped Aveley to the Ryman Premier play-offs last season, had been a target of Gate manager Iain O'Connell since the campaign ended, but he will play Blue Square Bet South football with the Essex club next term.

Once Aveley boss Rod Stringer resigned to take over at Braintree, O'Connell always feared his man may get away but he revealed he had come close to bringing Tuohy to Hartsdown Park.

"Martin's signing for Braintree, which I'm a bit disappointed about," he said. "We had a conversation and it looked like he'd be coming to us but he's chosen to play in a higher league.

"It's a little bit closer to home for him but I am disappointed. He was my old player at Woking - I pulled him out of the reserves - so it's unfortunate but if it doesn't work out for him at Braintree, he'll give me a call."

O'Connell has still not spoken with Dan Young about agreeing a deal to keep the defender in Thanet, with Young being linked to newly-promoted Croydon Athletic.

TARGETS: Iain O'Connell says Margate need another full-back (as cover for Aaron Lacy, right), a midfielder and striker

After another week of incessant phonecalls, O'Connell insisted his transfer business is not yet done but told fans they may have to wait a little longer for the next arrivals.

He said: "I'm still trying to sign people - possibly another defender - but we probably won't know until the start of pre-season. I'd like another full-back - we've got Aaron Lacy there at the moment but we need cover. We still need another midfielder and a forward - those are my priorities.

"I've spoken to a few Margate supporters and they're happy we've signed three good players already, this early in pre-season. I've had nothing but support from the fans since I've been here and I hope that continues."

O'Connell has remained in constant contact with chairman Keith Piper since the 1-0 win over Hastings, which secured Margate's safety, but he said no specific targets have yet been set for next season.

He said: "We do speak nearly every day but we haven't talked about that yet. The chairman wants to finish as high as possible but I don't think he's going to say 'I want you to get that position' - there's no pressure from him at all."

Woolford looks forward to bringing boxing home

BOXING

RAMSGATE welterweight Scott Woolford will realise a lifetime ambition when he takes to the ring in front of a Kent crowd next month.

Woolford is one of four Kent boxers featured on the bill for a special night of outdoor boxing on July 10 at Martyn Grove, the home of Lordswood Football Club.

Alongside his brother Vinny and Gavin Tait, from Sheerness, Woolford will provide the undercard for Chatham heavyweight Tom Dallas and the 28-year-old admitted he is already looking forward to the event.

He said: "I'm really excited about fighting in Kent - it's definitely going to be a special night. It'll be the first Kent pro show I've fought in and it's great to have it on our own county, rather than someone else's back yard.

"Mark [Rowe, organiser] has been brilliant, asking me and my brother to fight. It's what we've always wanted to do, to bring boxing back nearer to our home.

"It's the first time we've fought in the open air and although we normally get good support, this makes it easier for them so it's a really good opportunity for both of us."

Woolford has yet to learn who his opponent will be as he bids to bounce back from a points defeat to Aylesbury's Nathan Graham when the pair fought at York Hall, Bethnal Green in London on Friday.

He said: "There are a few possible options so we just need to finalise the opponent and then I can start studying the boxer, his style, his strengths and weaknesses."

FIRST HURDLE: Thanet Athletic Club has attracted hundreds of youngsters to the Marlowe track

Club gearing up to put youngsters into competitive action

THANET Athletic Club is gearing up for its first summer of competition having launched just seven weeks ago to cater for the area's track and field enthusiasts.

Based at the £1.4 million track at the Marlowe Academy in Ramsgate, the club has attracted three-figure attendances at training nights since first opening its doors on April 20.

Chairman Phil Pittock joined forces with local coaches to set the club up and he believes the future is bright - if first appearances are anything to go by.

"We're really pleased with how it's gone," he said. "We had 120 people on the first night and we've been running between 90 and 100 every [Tuesday] night since then. All our members are under 16, which is what we expected. There are some really talented juniors and we will be entering competitions later in the summer and then sportshall events during the winter.

"I've been involved with Thanet Roadrunners for 20 years and I encouraged them to get involved with track and field. When it became clear they weren't going to do that, a few of us got together last autumn to work out what we needed to do. Around Christmas time, we decided to go for it and we spoke to the Marlowe Academy about being the host club."

The club's coaching staff, led by Kim Weaving, includes former international high-jumper Lara Jefferys and Thanet are aiming to get themselves on a level footing with local clubs at Canterbury and Ashford.

Pittock said: "At the moment, we've got enough coaches to cope with the numbers we've got. The numbers have stabilised and we're hoping we can get the better athletes into competitions soon. There is a group of 12 coaches there every week and some have been to a high level within the sport."

IMPROVING: Kirk Shepherd played some excellent darts

Kirk finds the spark again at the Reebok

HE MAY have exited the UK Open at the third-round stage, but Kirk Shepherd gave darts fans a glimpse of his best form at Bolton's Reebok Stadium last week.

The 23-year-old put on a superb showing to beat Adrian Gray in round two, nailing a tender to clinch what proved to be the final leg of his 6-4 triumph.

Going into the game ranked ten places below Gray, Shepherd had anticipated a tricky tie but once he recovered from losing the first leg, he never fell behind and bombarded the treble 20 to keep Gray at arm's length.

Although Gray hit the first two 180s of the night, Shepherd grew as the game went on and when Gray missed five darts at a double in the ninth leg, he pounced to move 5-4 ahead.

The best was yet to come, however - Shepherd finishing in style with visits of 180, 140 and 165 to set up a shot at double eight for the win.

He could find no way past Paul Nicholson in Friday's fourth-round clash, however, giving the Australian-born Geordie a 4-0 head-start before eventually succumbing to a 9-6 reverse.
